let him work righteousness and associate none

His teaching style

He is known for his efforts in teaching books to individuals, small groups as well large congregations with an emphasis on Mutūn (texts) and in particular the explanations of Ibn ‘Uthaymīn. Students are prohibited from writing or taking notes during the lesson, rather they are encouraged to listen attentively and memorise. After the lesson, the students would sit together and write the lesson notes from their memory.

Shaykh Haytham Sarḥān is a virtuous man, and from the best of the Salafi students of knowledge.

¹ His books and their translations can be readily downloaded: <https://alsarhaan.com/en/books/>

His classes are disciplined, and the correct etiquettes must be maintained at all times. Each student is required to memorise the Matn, and revise previous work – with the threat of the lesson being cancelled at an instance if the matn has not been memorised or revised.

During his first years of teaching in al-Masjid an-Nabawi, the Shaykh would divide his students into small groups of 4 or 5 students, and each group would be taught every day for 20 minutes. As his lessons became more popular, and the space afforded to him in al-Masjid an-Nabawi became crowded, he was given a dedicated place in Masjid Dhu-Nurayn.

The praise of the scholars²

Shaykh Wasīullah al-Abbās: “That which I know, is that he is a man who strived to [learn and] sit with the scholars, he has knowledge regarding the correct ‘Aqīdah and [knowledge-based] issues...”

Shaykh Sāliḥ as-Suḥaymī: “Shaykh Haytham Sarḥān is a virtuous man, and from the best of the Salafi students of knowledge.”

Shaykh Falāḥ Ismā‘īl: “As for Shaykh Haytham Sarḥān, we do not know him except to be a Mujāhid in this field (da’wah), he has great efforts, tolerance and travelling to countries; he travels East and West; in fact he aids students to travel to Madīnah, and live in Madīnah to learn, seek knowledge and then return to their countries. The world bears witness to his lessons. His lessons and lectures are all books of the Salaf, so where is the hizbiyyah?! ...the man is known to us to be upon the Sunnah, and the books he teaches are the books of the Sunnah...”

Shaykh ‘Ali at-Tuwijirī: “The brother, Haytham Sarḥān is known to me, I know him personally, he is from our trustworthy brothers, he traverses the Salafi methodology, well-grounded in knowledge; he has devoted himself to the lessons of our Shaykh ‘AbdulMuḥsin al-Abbād; and has also devoted himself to teaching students...”

There is a lot more to be written regarding his Da'wah efforts, his character, his sacrifices, his unique relationship with his students throughout the world as well as my personal experiences and interactions with him spanning over 15 years. However, ultimately it is a person's own knowledge, good deeds and efforts which praise him, and what has been written is sufficient for now. Nobody is praised above Allāh, and our accountability is with Him alone. Wallāhu a'lam.³
